

The Social Network For Fitness & Health

Sparcs

Digital Marketing Intern

(Full-time/Part-time)

Description

Looking for your next challenge? Join our young and disruptive startup during the most exciting phase and have a real impact shaping the market for fitness & health.

Sparcs is the most social fitness & health app, building on the power of social engagement to help everyone achieve a more active lifestyle. We are looking for an entrepreneurial Digital Marketing Intern to join our interdisciplinary team and support us in building a professional digital presence. Your primary responsibilities include (1) creating posts for different social media channels, (2) engaging with our community, as well as (3) setting up and maintaining basic marketing analytic tools.

Ideally, you

- Care deeply about your craft, down to every last detail
- Enjoy building a community and spreading the word about the next big thing
- Have a strong sense for visual design for social media
- Have prior experience creating content and running social media accounts
- Are proficient using tools like Canva, Photoshop, Adobe Illustrator, ...
- Have a passion for startups and show a high level of self-reliance
- Bonus (but not necessary): Experience with Google Analytics and Facebook Ad Manager

Our offer

- Impact by scaling up the next big thing
- A professionally nourishing and creative working atmosphere
- Modern office with everything you need to bring your best work to life
- Flexible and remote working hours
- Salary depending on experience
- Visionary, experienced, and entrepreneurial team of nerds and crazies
- Teambuilding activities (did you ever play games in VR?)
- Unlimited coffee & fruits to fuel your creative energy

And, above all, the opportunity to promote the #1 social network for a better and more active life.

Ready for the adventure? Reach out, we can't wait to meet you! 🙌
